ACHIEVEMENTS

In my career as a frontend developer I have been able to participate in major projects such as the creation of a mobile app for managing appointments for medical visits, medical product management and subscriptions, this app is called "Roota Two" which is essentially the support of medical visitors, in another opportunity I had the challenge of developing a functional clone of "algolia" by the hand of "meilisearch" that helps to be a powerful search engine and ultimately I am working on "casandra" a very complete ecommerce that has its own job portal and learning academy.
